

Your Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) has been selected for a review process by the U.S. Department of Education called verification. In this process, the Office of Financial Aid is required by law to compare your FAFSA information with signed copies of 2006 federal tax forms, W-2 forms/earning statements, other financial documents, etc. Federal regulations authorize the Office of Financial Aid to request this information. If there are differences between your FAFSA and the financial documents, the Office of Financial Aid may send corrections electronically, to have your information reprocessed. Complete this verification form and submit it to the Office of Financial Aid immediately along with the required documentation, so that your financial aid will not be delayed.
